

Case

Initial Presentation

- Jess Paine is a 66 year old female with PMH HTN and HLD who comes to the emergency department with bilateral arm pain, dyspnea, and nausea that occurred while she digging in her garden this afternoon.
- She thinks the symptoms went away after resting.
- She is worried that she might be having a heart attack because her mother had an MI at age 70.

Case

Initial Presentation

- Your physical exam is unremarkable.
- The patient has a normal EKG consistent with her baseline.
- Initial troponin  $< 0.01$ , repeat also  $< 0.01$ .

